SOLDIER ON GUARD NEAR SETTLEMENT IS MURDERED

Killed By Assassin At St. Catherine's Bridge

POLICEMAN SHOT

Constabulary Member Also Victim Of Attack

Despite the strict precautionary measures taken by General Ho Feng-lin, defense commissioner for Shanghai and Sungkiang, and Col. Lu Yung-chien, chief of the Woosung and Shanghai constabulary, to preserve order in Chinese territory adjacent to the Foreign Settlements and to checkmate Kiangsu spies, one soldier from the Arsenal on guard duty on the Settlement border has been shot dead, and a constabulary policeman has been shot and seriously wounded.

In both cases, the attacks were made by unknown assassins, who escaped.

The attack on the policeman occurred on Thursday night at about 10 o'clock, which he was on patrol duty near the North Gate. His assailant is said to have been a Chinese loafer.

The night before—Wednesday night—the soldier was shot dead while on guard duty at the St. Catherine's Bridge.

SPY IS CAPTURED

One alleged spy was captured at the Shanghai North station because of a soldier's curiosity about a man lingering about with a bundle under his arm. The sentinel's demand as to what the civilian wanted was answered with a statement that the latter was waiting to take a train to Hangchow. None being in the station or due to leave for some hours, the soldier examined the bundle while a companion guarded the civilian.

When the bundle was found to contain a pair of soldier's trousers and puttees, the man was questioned at the military office in the station. He said his name was Wu and that he wished to go to Hangchow to visit a friend whose name and occupation he would not give. He refused to say more and was taken first to Lunghwa and then shipped on to Hangchow under guard.

A former telegraph employe revisiting friends at the station was so incautious as to air in the hearing of a Chekiang officer his belief that the Chekiang army would be beaten. He was put under guard and sent to Lunghwa. A fine if he has money, a beating if he has not was the general prediction.

Following reports that two country people were shot when they approached at night the bridge near Lunghwa where dynamite was exploded several days ago, railroad employes were cautioned not to move about the line after dusk.

SOUTH JAPAN IS HIT BY TYPHOON; NINE ARE KILLED

Train Is Derailed Owing To Landslide Caused By Heavy Rains

(Eastern News Agency)

Osaka, Sept. 12.—A typhoon swept the south of Japan early this morning. The telegraphs and telephones between Nagasaki and Osaka were interrupted, but have now been partially restored. A third-class express was derailed near Hiroshima owing to a landslide caused by the heavy rains. Nine persons were killed and many injured. There was no serious damage to shipping. The typhoon is now passing away.

ARMED ROBBERS GET $1,100 IN TWO BIG RAIDS

Rice Shop Proprietor Loses $923 In Cash; Chinese House Is Raided

Two armed robberies, in which the loot totaled more than $1,100, were reported to police of the Harbin Road Station. In both instances, the robbers escaped and the police have as yet been unable to pick up their trail.

At 7:35 o'clock yesterday morning, four men, each armed with a revolver, entered a rice shop at 1168 Wuchow Road. After intimidating the occupants, the men seized $923 in cash and escaped in a blue motor car which was said to bear license number 4119. Police were summoned by the proprietor of the shop, but the bandits were already well away. No shots were fired.

Five men, two of whom were armed with pistols, held up a Chinese dwelling at 135-6 Sawgin Road Thursday night and made off with money, clothing and jewelry valued at about $200. The men, after frightening the occupants of the house by displaying their weapons, made a systematic search of the quarters, remaining about fifteen minutes and picking up everything of value. All five then ran down an adjacent alleyway and escaped.

Martial Law Is Ordered At Peking

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, September 11.—A communique dated September 10 has been issued by General Wang Huaiching, Commander of the Garrison here, stating that acting on orders by the President, martial power will be employed for the present for the maintenance of peace and order, for the public mind is greatly agitated owing to the disquieting state of the situation. The foregoing communique is generally considered to be a martial law.

Hindus Evacuate Kohat After Trouble Breaks Out With Moslems

(Reuter's Service)

Simla, Sept. 11.—Communal rioting took place at Kohat on September 9 and 10. Firearms were used and there was some incendiarism. Troops were called out, and fired. Ten persons were killed and twenty wounded. The Hindus, who suffered considerably, evacuated the city.

(Reuter's Service)

Simla, Sept. 11.—The trouble at Kohat is ascribed to a pamphlet insulting Moslem holy places.

The majority of both the Moslems and the Hindus used firearms indiscriminately, wounding a number of police and officials. It is now stated that 15 persons were killed.

Both Sides Preparing For Momentous Battle On Huangtu Rail Front

All Indications Point To Decisive Struggle Nearing With Kiangsu Making Determined Drive To Crush Chekiang Resistance

BY TALBOT PATRICK

Nanziang Sept. 12, 6 p.m.—A storm greater than any attack of the present war is gathering its armed lightnings in the lull of fighting brought by the milder furies of wind and water.

All indications on this side of the line as well as reports of spies from the Kiangsu armies indicate that leaders of both provinces are preparing for a battle in this sector which may turn out to be the decisive one of the war. Although the Chekiang officers do not acknowledge the fact it is my belief that the most powerful attack is contemplated by the northern army and that any attacks by the southerners will be local and for tactical purposes of a general defensive, such has straightening out dangerous angles in the fighting line and threatening lines of communication of the attackers.

Meanwhile, the whole section of the front on either side of the railway has been quiet for thirty-six hours except for a short interval about 2 o'clock this morning. At that time two small parties of Nanking men were discovered attempting to slip forward under cover of darkness, one group along the railway line right at Bridge 42 and one some distance to the north.

Fire was opened upon the northerners and after an exchange of shots, with some machine gun firing, they retired. Both front lines have remained stationary through the wet weather of yesterday and today.

GOING STILL HEAVY

Tomorrow will have to be very wet, I have been told, to prevent a renewal of battle. The water which covered fields has gradually sunk into the ground and disappeared, in spite of further light falls during yesterday and today. Going is still very heavy, of course, and paths are traps of clinging mud, but movements are much more possible than for many hours following the terrific rains of day before yesterday.

There have been conferences of many of the officers, including even those of low rank, and a general understanding reached of plans to be followed when severe fighting is renewed. Re-inforcements of troops from the south who have not been in battle in the present war but are declared to be good fighting men are due up here tonight.

Other re-inforcements of far more importance so far as the outcome of the war is concerned are named in a report which has reached me from several sources—a report that 15,000 Fengtien troops are being sent from the north to strengthen the Chekiang battle lines.

One usually trustworthy informant said that a few of these troops have already arrived and have been since yesterday at Pootung and Lunghwa. Two boats crowded with more are reported on the way. Whether these troops are coming fully armed or not, I could not ascertain, but I was told that there are on hand in the arsenal more than enough small arms for a force this size.

To transport 15,000 men will take some time unless a whole fleet is employed, however, and one prediction from a military man of long experience in China was that, unless the present rainy spell continues heavily, Chang Tso-lin's men cannot arrive in time. The prediction had the more weight because the prophet's sympathies are with those for whom he predicts defeat.

ATTACK NOW NEAR

If the report of the coming of these troops is true, it will doubtless reach the Nanking leaders or has already done so. In that case they will have all the more incentive to attack in this sector as soon as possible and dispose of

STOP SALE OF RAIL TICKETS INTO FENGTIEN

Tourist Agencies At Peking Instructed; Fear Car Seizures

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, September 12.—The tourist agencies in Peking were instructed today not to sell tickets beyond Shanhaikuan, which is the center of neutral territory in which no troops are stationed except foreign railway guards.

Up to the present tickets have been available, and ordinary traffic resulted in an exact exchange of rolling stock.

The present restriction is due to the fear that Chang Tso-lin may seize Chihli trains.

NANKING ROAD TRAM REPAIRS; DIVERT TRAFFIC

All Parking Of Motor Cars To Be Prohibited Pending To Honan Road

Notification was issued yesterday by Mr. M. O. Springfield, assistant commissioner of police in charge of traffic, of new regulations which will govern vehicular traffic on Nanking Road between Honan Road and the Bund commencing tomorrow, while the work of renewing the tramway track in this section is in progress.

The temperary regulations are:

1. No vehicle, will be allowed to park on either side of Nanking Road even for short perhaps in the section between Honan Road and the Bund.

2. Portions of the section between Honan Road and the Bund will be closed to all east bound vehicular traffic as and when found necessary. Such portions will be indicated by warning notices displayed at the crose street where vehicles are to turn off Nanking Road.

Japan Tells Views On Arms Question

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Geneva, September 12.—Answering the request of the League of Nations that members refrain from exceeding their current expenditures for armaments, Japan today notified the Assembly that the earthquake disaster had necessitated a temporary restriction in armament expense, which, in turn, will make necessary replacements later on. Otherwise, Japan will adhere to the new policy faithfully.

Kiangsu Troops Retiring At Liuho, Says Chekiang

BY D. J. LEWIS

Liuho, Sept. 12. 9:30 p.m.—Arrived in Liuho at 6.30 and called on Col. Chang who stated that during the day the Kiangsu troops have retired a considerable distance being now some 10 li from Liuho. It is said that the Honan troops on this front have retired and that now Chekiang has the largest number of troops, i.e. 4000 as against only 3000 Kiangsu troops.

Tuchun Chi has been reported to have left Quinsan for Nanking.

Chekiang have four guns at Liuho and one gun at the new village firing on the Kiangsu lines. Today these five guns each discharged an average of 60 shells. In the last two days fighting Kiangsu suffered 200 wounded and 100 dead. Chekiang in the last two days has had a total of 30 dead and wounded.

Col. Chang stated that as his troops come from Anhwei and Shantung, they have had considerable more experience in fighting in wet weather and can advance more rapidly through the mud. Chekiang forces have been reduced from 6000 to 4000. Kiangsu has fallen back on Taitson and their number has been considerably reduced owing to the seriousness of the situation in other sectors.

Since being engaged at Liuho during the last ten days Kiangsu has held the town on two occasions the last time being September 7th when 500 Kiangsu troops succeeded in entering the town, but they were driven out the same day. Since September 7th Chekiang has been able to hold Liuho.

The colonel states quite definitely that at no time during the last ten days have shells been fired at Liuho from naval vessels in the Yangtsze. Against the five guns which Chekiang have on this front Kiangsu have only two large guns.

No Red Cross unit at Liuho today.

SPIES ARE CAPTURED

During the last three days Chekiang have captured 20 Kiangsu spies all of whom have been sent to Lunghawa for examination and trial.

PREPARATIONS COMPLETE, MUKDEN TO STRIKE BLOW TOMORROW, HO IS TOLD

15,000 Manchurian Warriors Said To Have Reached Here By Japanese Steamer To Aid Chekiang In Conflict; Fukien Soldiers Settle Down In Liuho To Lay For Enemy

Mukden has selected September 14, the day after the Mid-Autumn Festival, to fire the first shot at Chihli, according to an urgent telegram received here yesterday afternoon by the local military authorities. The message states that the picked men of Marshal Chang Tso-lin have been strongly entrenched at three strategic points, Shanghaikwan, Hsifengkow and Jehol.

The text of the message follows:

"The Fengtien Army sent to Shanhaikwan, Hsifengkow and Jehol have all reached the points of destination, while additional troops are being hurried to the front. Because their strength is weak, the Chihli forces at Jehol withdrew at the sight of the Fengtien advance and are now gathering reinforcements to make a stand."

Another telegram from Tientsin to Lunghua says:

"The Mukden Army have reached their front line of defence at three strategic points. It will start military operation on the 14th if not before."

Rumors were also afloat yesterday that 15,000 Fengtien troops have come down from Manchuria to assist the Chekiang forces. Two Japanese boats are said to have brought them down here and deposited them together with their arms and supply at the banks of the Hangchow Bay. Some were seen in Pootung and Liuho yesterday, wearing the Fengtien uniform and equipped with the most up-to-date arms and ammunition.

Little fighting was conducted at the Liuho front yesterday. From 11 o'clock Thursday night to three yesterday morning, a few shots were exchanged, causing 6 casualties on the Chekiang side No shots were heard after six in the morning. The Fukien soldiers have now cut a system of trenches ready to defend the town without further offensive action.

Thirty-four wounded came to from the Huangtu and Liuho fronts yesterday. Seven of these had to be operated upon at the Red Cross General Hospital, others were distributed among the six other hospitals for the wounded.

According to an extra issued by the Shanghai Tribune yesterday at 3 o'clock, the Chekiang troops yesterday morning advanced within five li of Yihsin. Two battalions of Kiangsu forces surrendered and a large quantity of arms and provisions was captured. A section of the Kiangsu men withdrew inside of Yihsin city. The merchants of Yihsin have addressed an appeal to General Chen Yao-shan, in command of the Chekiang forces in the Western theater of War, to refrain from bombarding the city pending negotiations to have the Kiangsu troops either evacuate or surrender the city. Chen has given the merchants eight hours within which to fulfil the condition.

Yesterday morning, says the Tribune, a small detachment of Kiangsu forces assaulted Liuho and withdrew after a minor engagement. The Chekiang line has again been extended to the west. The Shanghai-Nanking Railway proceeded as far as Anting yesterday morning. There was no combat in Huangtu, Tsingpu and Anting in the morning. The entire front line has extended northward.

U. S. AND BRITAIN EXCHANGE VIEWS ON STRIFE HERE

MacDonald Promises To Give China Situation Personal Attention

(BY UNITED PRESS)

London, September 12.—The United States and Great Britain have begun a preliminary exchange of views with regard to the present situation in China, according to persons closely in touch with diplomatic quarters here.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald is said to have promised to give his personal attention to the matter in view of the extreme importance.

Tokio, Sept. 12.—The Japan Advertiser of today, in its editorial under the caption, "Folly of Foreign Intervention," writes as follows:

"Even if foreign intervention in China's domestic affairs were justifiable from the moral point of view, such a step will not bear fruit taken from the standpoints of the Powers as well as from the improvement of the state of affairs in that country. This is the opinion that is shared by the majority of foreigners residing in China.

"Since the outbreak of the present Kiangsu-Chekiang war, there have been strong arguments among the foreign residents that they should deem it their duty to maintain neutrality. For instance, the foreign chambers of commerce in Shanghai have passed a resolution against arbitration by the Powers.

"Taken from the angle of mutual jealousy and suspicion on the part of the Powers, foreign intervention is impossible. Besides, it is also impossible for the Powers to occupy and control the whole land of China, though it may be possible for them at most to hold treaty-ports and other commercial centers in that coutry.

"Considering that the Powers have succeeded in temporarily occupying and controling China, the consequences would be that anti-foreignism will become more intense than ever, thereby giving rise to keen boycott against the Powers. It is therefore evident that foreign intervention will in the long run result in nothing but self-destruction.

"It is natural for the Powers to take steps necessary for the protection of the lives and property of their respective nationals, but is is by no means wise and just for them to go any further. The only help the Powers can extend to China is friendship without any selfish motive. In short, any external power is not strong enough to hold in check the waves that are flowing at present throughout China."

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 12.—The press here unanimously express strong opposition to agreement that is being made by some foreign papers that the situation in China has come to such a pass that necessitates intervention by the Powers in the internal affairs in that country.

The "Kokumin" says:

"The argument as expressed by the late Admiral Baron Kato, then

Peking, Sept. 12.—The Diplomatic Corps has decided to refrain from sending any relief fund for the North China Flood. Those who are willing may send the money to the International Famine Relief Committee in order to prevent the money from going to the war chest of the Chihli Party.

Wu Pei-fu, in a telegram to the Military Council, states that in case of necessity, the 23rd division under Wang Wei-cheng will have to be sent to the northern end of the Tientsin-Pukow Railway. Its original post will be garrisoned by the Shensi division under Hu Chin-yi.

Changhsin, Sept. 12.—Because of the lack of boats, the Chekiang forces are proceeding against their enemy by means of rafts and have occupied the lower half of the Sushan. The upper portion, which is guarded by heavy artillery, is still in the hands of the Kiangsu men.

General Chen Yao-shan has order Hsia Shao-ling, commander of the seventh brigade of the fourth division, to assault Liyang by way of the Anhui border.

LEAGUE ASKED TO SCAN MOVE AGAINST REDS

Georgian Anti-Soviet Revolt Is Subject Of Joint Resolution

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 11.—The Assembly of the League of Nations referred to the Agenda Committee a joint resolution in the name of the British, French and Belgian delegates inviting the Council to watch attentively the anti-Soviet insurrection in Georgia and to seize the opportunity to enable the country to return to a state of peace.

M. Boncour (France) on behalf of the three delegations said that in the face of bloodshed it seemed desirable that the Assembly should make a gesture against which no State could take umbrage. "We have heard talk of peace; yet blood is flowing."

M. Boncour mentioned that before they left Geneva Mr. MacDonald and M. Herriot had received an appeal from Georgia.

Constantinople, Sept. 11.—It is reported that the revolutionary movements in the Caucasus has spread to a wide extent. Fierce fighting has occurred in east and south Trans-Caucasia, where the Bolshevists have sustained several defeats. It is stated that the insurgents have occupied Tiflis and Kutais and that the Bolshevists are retreating, leaving behind ammunition dumps intact. Batum is also threatened.

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Geneva, Sept. 11.—The Assembly terminated the discussion on the general report and then took up the question of the financial reconstruction of Hungary. M. Cavazzoni explained the results obtained in Hungary since the intervention of the League of Nations. The National Bank had been founded, monetary inflation had been stopped, administrative reforms instituted, while the revenue had increased. The example of Hungary was a convincing proof of what could be accomplished by international cooperation.

The Third Committee gave a hearing to M. Marinovitxh, the Yugo-Slavian Minister of Foreign Affairs, who stated that his country could not adhere to the pact of mutual assistance in view of the fact that there was no guarantee in the event of disarmament.

Lord Parmoor declared to representatives of the press that in case of need Great Britain would place the whole of her naval forces at the service of right and justice, and to vindicate the arbitration clause of the Treaty of Versailles.

tion. Thirteen motor lorries were counted dismantled along the road. It was noticed that ammunition was being sent to the front in passenger cars.

Chekiang claim that they are feeding their troops on bread, no rice being used, canned meats and fresh fruit. All food supplies being shipped from Shanghai. Eight thousand loaves of bread are used daily, the daily ration of each soldier being 2 loaves of bread, one tin of meat, tea and fresh fruit. From time to time the soldiers are presented with Capstan cigarettes by the general command. Owing to the small number of men keeping the extended lines at Liuho—only 4000—it is impossible to relieve them and they have since occupying Liuho been on continuous duty sleeping when relieved in their advanced positions. A large consignment of umbrellas was noticed being sent to the front lines and the general informed us that the soldiers tied these to their backs in order to be able to continue fighting in the rain.

While at headquarters, they discharged 12 rounds out their gun which they claim has a range of 6000 metres. Each shell costs Tls. 13. Col. Chang informed us that his command is now being furnished with hand bombs patterned after the ones used in the Great War and intimated that when they shortly advanced on this sector that they would use these in clearing out the Kiangsu positions.

AIRPLANES ARE USED

Col. Chang states that today Chekiang used three planes to attack the Kiangsu lines at Quinsan.

It was noticed during the last two days that the police are again functioning in the Chapei district and that armed guards are stationed at regular intervals along the Liuho road. No planes have been used at Liuho by either side.

Left Liuho at 8.00 p.m. The Colonel is quite impressed with the pictorial supplement of this week China Weekly Review and requested that he be supplied with ten copies.

Fifty soldiers and two officers are claimed to have been taken captive by Chekiang on this front in the last two days.

Both Sides Preparing For Momentous Battle

the present leaders of Chekiang at once. They would then be able to send much of their forces north to help Chihli allies against any further participation in fighting by Chang Tso-lin or in any attempt against the Mukden war lord.

In addition, troops sent from the north to re-enforce the Kiangsu army have had ample time to be distributed along the battle zone ready to take port in a big offensive and no more are due the next day or so for whom it might be worth while delaying opening of the attack. With the northern troops are declared to have come a large number of engine drivers, firemen, station-masters, train guards, etc. from the Pukow-Tientsin railway line. These have been distributed along the Shanghai-Nanking railway between Nanking and Quinsan or beyond because of fears of possible results of sympathy for the Chekiang army on the part of railwaymen regularly on this line.

The Chekiang soldiers have quickly adapted themselves to the rainy spell and most of them are comfortable under cover. To the front, most of them are sheltered in farm buildings and tiny villages. At Huangtu, railroad cars supply shelter for many, while others are jammed in the station and a few small railway buildings here and there nearby.

TENTS ARE ERECTED

At Nanziang, many men are in tents erected after the rains began, a few are in mat and straw shelters and others are in cars, in the station, on the platform under the roof and in eating houses near the station.

Large supplies of flour, tinned meat and vegetables have been issued to replace food spoiled by the rain. There is no scarcity of food and water is, of course, very abundant and fortunately, boiled for tea and not taken "as is."

Hot rice in steaming water is sent up by train from Nanziang to Huangtu and carried thence about the front several times a day. Empty Standard Oil tins are a favorite container, two filled tins being carried on a pole by one coolie.

Another form of transportation, the rischas, show signs of the wear and tear of hard use. Most of them now have one or both tires flat. Others may be seen tumbled into roadside ditches or stagnant pools, shoved out of the way after they had broken down. The use of wheelbarrows has been impossible on many paths since the rains turned the ways to mud.

Many soldiers on sentry duty wear raincoats of heavy brown canvas with hoods of the same material attached. Some of the soldiers have unrolled overcoats of similar cut which they carry with them and are using these as raincoats when they have errands out from under shelter. Unless the rain is heavy, many don't bother to carry umbrellas.

FIREWOOD PLENTIFUL

The supply of firewood in faggots continues plentiful and everyone has all the hot food and tea he desires, a great help in keeping off chill and depression sometimes incident to wet weather.

An innovation at Nanziang late this afternoon was white flags with characters showing whether trains are destined for Shanghai or Huangtu. Travel of individual soldiers is quite heavy; apparently they receive a number of hours leave to visit Shanghai and obtain supplies of cigarettes, brandy, delicacies, etc. for their companions.

General Chwang Tse-ping's quick eyes may have discovered on his visit today, but I doubt whether General Ho and Governor Lu have yet learned of an eager recruit to the armies of Chekiang. He lived at Nanziang with no more excitement than that of an ordinary country life until the war began.

Today he had reached the point where he marched about Nanziang station platform. His figure bulges on this rainy day with layers of clothing under a wadded black suit and he is inordinately proud of a band on his left arm, that of an ex-Fukien soldier. And when a group of coolies lets him follow them about at their work of carrying ammunition, pride radiates from his whole face and off of his figure that can raise itself or puff a trifle.

He is 6 years old.

Premier of Japan, at the Washington Conference four years ago that any action that was considered to be tantamount to interference in China's domestic affairs should by all means be avoided and that all the internal affairs in China should be left in her hands shall be the guiding-star of Japan's policy towards China."

The "Osaka Asahi" avers "that to prevent China from being turned into a Balkans, it is imperative for the Governments and peoples of the Powers absolutely to maintain their strict neutrality."

The "Yomiuri" writes in part:

"While we have no objection to foreign intervention in China's internal affairs of such a nature that limits the area of war and that the Powers, in their co-operative action, disarm the defeated troops that may happen to run into the Settlements of Shanghai solely for the protection of lives and property of foreign residents there, the Imperial Government of Japan is strongly requested to take precaution against such sort of foreign intervention that tends to place China under international control in any form even when there be necessity for the Powers to take such drastic measures."

Ooshakoff Armed Highway Robbery Case Adjourned

In the Mixed Court yesterday another adjournment was granted in the case in which Vladimir Ooshakoff, a colonel of Cossacks and a noted Russian "White" leader, is charged with attempted armed highway robbery. Ooshaoff was caught on Range Road on the night of September 1 in the act of holding up a Chinese tailor with a pistol, a Chinese and a Sikh constable having overpowered the Cossack and taken the pistol from him. The affair was also witnessed by a foreigner passing at the time.

Ooshakoff is being tried before Mr. Ivanow, Russian Assessor, with whom the Cossack claims personal acquaintance. The defence said at the trial last week that it could produce witnesses to testify for the accused, and a remand was granted to permit them to do so. Yesterday they came to Court again with the same story, and the Court again graciously granted a rema the meantime Ooshakoff liberty on $300 bail.

ENDOWMENT INSURANCE — WHOLE LIFE INSURANCE

Facts and Figures

DURING the first three months of 1924 the New York Life Insurance Company paid 2739 death claims. Of these policyholders 126 died in the first year of insurance, 136 in the second year, 463 between three and five years after insuring, 494 between five and ten years after insuring, 707 between ten and twenty years after insuring and 813 after twenty years of insurance.

Twenty years ago no one knew which of these 2739 people would die first. That uncertain but sure event lies at the very heart of the practical problem of living. It makes life insurance necessary.

Our Advertising

May be copied, our methods imitated. But O.I.C. Service can never be equalled in the fitting of Comfortable-Becoming Glasses at Reasonable Prices

Established two decades by one of the first foreign opticians in Shanghai, we are the first extensive and Largest Optical Advertisers in the Orient.

We were first to incorporate the Service of Oculist—Optometrist—Optician together with our own completely equipped manufacturing laboratory on the premises.

The O.I.C. has grown faster than any other local optician.

We were first to formulate and publish a Standard Guarantee of both our Examination and Glasses.

We were first to inaugurate a standard "one price" system on all frames—with prices marked in plain figures.

We were first to offer Genuine Sir Wm. Crookes' Toric Lenses ground to my prescription for $5.00 per pair, when others charge from $15 to $25.00. We were first to institut a repair Service whereby we duplicate and replace any broken lense for $1.00—regardless of the prescription in genuine Toric, Flat, White or Crookes Glass.

We were first to inaugurate "No charge for Small Repairs"—"Lense Duplicated while you wait"—"Cases and Antiseptic Cleaners Free"—"No charge for adjustments—Springs or Screws." Proof That O.I.C. is appreciated is in the fact that the leading business and professional men in China, including our Municipal Councillors are sponsors of O.I.C. Service and wearers of O.I.C. Glasses.

Armed Robbery And Highway Robbery Cases In Court

Four men appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday charged with armed robbery and highway robbery. The first count is an armed robbery on Chaufoong Road on November 19 last, the victim being a Chinese, Moh Tsoong-jung. Seven men are implicated in this, two of whom have already been sentenced in the Mixed Court.

The second case, of highway robbery, is in connection with the attack upon a Japanese ship's officer, Captain Echigo of the s.s. Kumano Maru, on Point Road May 26 last, five men having jumped on him as he was going along in a ricsha and taken away a wallet containing a considerable amount of money in both Japanese and Chinese currency. Two men have been sentenced in connection with this also, and if three of those now charged are found to have been implicated this will complete the quintette.

On the application of the police, both cases were remanded.

Japanese Naval Launches Collide; Many Are Drowned

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Sept. 12.—Two launches belonging to the flagship Nagato collided at Yokosuka this morning. Both were sunk and many persons were drowned.

Later.—The collision, according to the Navy Department, occurred this morning at the entrance to the harbor when a launch transferring more than one hundred men to the Nagato, from shore leave, collided with the Nagato's torpedoboat. The launch immediately sank. So far, there are no details, but it is believed that between ten and twenty men were drowned.

NANCHANG HEARS KIANGSI FLOOD RELIEF SCHEME

Proposals Are Made By Representative Of Famine Commission

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanchang, Kiangsi, Sept. 5.—Oliver J. Todd, engineer representative of the China International Famine Relief Committee with headquarters in Peking has been in and about Nanchang for the past week making investigations with reference to taking preventative measures, and giving relief for those suffering from the recent floods in Kiangsi.

Mr. Todd has made extensive investigations this spring and summer in eight provinces in China and he reports that the worst floods are in Chihli, Kiangsi and Honan in the order named. His proposal to the committee of six foreigners and Chinese, who sat at dinner as the guests of Tsai Tuli was as follows:

The Famine Relief Committee would provide a sum of money to a $500,000 or $750,000 as a revolving fund to be used in Kiangsi for the construction of dikes, widening and making them higher, this money to be a loan contingent upon the Kiangsi authorities raising an equal amount, with the understanding that the money loaned by the committee be returned with interest within the year.

The workers shall be recruited from among the farmers who have been hit by the famine and be paid and supervised by a foreign engineer.

There are five bad breaks on the Gan River the largest being 648 feet long and about forty feet deep. This one alone will cost about $13,000 to repair. The others are smaller. On Poyang lake shore and the Fu River matters are much worse and while the survey made is very incomplete the evidence gathered is that there is several years work here and this will necessitate several million dollars in money.

Mr. Todd proposed to the officials and the committee the following. First patch the principal breaks on the Gan River, between Nanchang and Changshu; second, put survey parties in the Nanchang and Poyang Lake district about October 1; third, dike around some of the large islands in Poyang Lake; fourth, raise most of the dikes two feet and also widen them.

Mr. K. T. Lee acting for Governor Tsai was in hearty agreement with the suggestions and a meeting of the officials and gentry is to be held tomorrow to either accept or reject the plan.

While the Chinese seemed to think the idea was to get a good amount of money handed to them the thinking men see the better plan and recognise the fact that a great deal more and better results can be obtained in the new way.

Ammunition Found On Chinese Sailors From American Liner

Several hundred rounds of ammunition were found on five Chinese stewards from the President Harrison who came ashore in a sampan from the liner Thursday night, upon the men being searched by Municipal Police.

Nine parties of police from the Yangtsepoo Station were detailed Thursday evening to investigate the jetties along the Yangtsepoo and search any suspicious parties they might run across. At Tengyeuh Road Jetty Sergeant Watson saw the men get out of a sampan from the American liner, and one of them adjust something about his waist. A search revealed a cloth containing over a hundred rounds of ammunition on the man, and the quintette were arrested. Upon being searched three others were found to have similar cloths with ammunition on their persons in all 525 rounds of .38 caliber cartridges.

The men appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday before Mr. Whitamore, British Assessor, and Magistrate Li. Four were sentenced to two months' imprisonment each, and the fifth, a seventeen-year-old boy who was not found to have any contraband on his person, was cautioned. The ammunition was ordered confiscated.

Shanghai Man Wins Raffle Conducted For Russ Orphanage

Ticket No. 579, held by Mr. Koreff, 311 Avenue Joffre, was drawn in the raffle for a lady's wrist watch sent to Mrs. Desnitsky Stone by Mrs. T. de Krzywoszewski of London, according to announcement just made by Mrs. Dennsitsky-Stone. As a result of the raffle, the sum of $852 will be handed over to Mme. Diterichs' Orphanage, the proceeds of the sale of tickets.

The drawing was held on August 30th in Mem. Lesourd's villa at Peitaho, those present being M. and Mme. Lesourd, Banque Industrielle de Chine, Tientsin; M. and Mme. Bleurer, Russo-Asiatic Bank, Peking and Shanghai; M. and Mme. Bandinel, Russo-Asiatic Bank, Tientsin; Mme. Garnier, Tientsin; Mme. Grave, Peking; Mrs. W. D. Connor, wife of General Connor, U. S. A., Tientsin; Mme. Eltekoff, Harbin; Mme. Desnitsky, Peking and Mrs. Desnitsky-Stone, Shanghai. Mme. Wilden, wife of the French consul-general at Shanghai, who was to have drawn the number, was unable to be present owing to illness, and the number was drawn by Master Lesourd, aged three. The winner of the watch may obtain it from Mme. Denitsky-Stone at her residence, 16 Wongkashaw Gardens, following her return to Shanghai from Peitaho after September 25th.

In making the announcement of the drawing, Mrs. Desnitsky-Stone expressed her gratitude to her many friends for their assistance in selling tickets and making the raffle a success.

Rice Boat Raided By Pirates, Report

Piracy of a rice boat at Wukong, Taiho Lake, was reported by the owner of the boat who arrived in Shanghai, wounded, and went to the Chinese Red Cross Hospital on Avenue Haig for medical attention, according to the Chinese press. He said that the boat had started out from Wusih. Owing to the war, it was obliged to take a circuitous route to get to Shanghai. Off Wukong, twenty pirates armed with pistols and knives, boarded the boat, assaulted the owner, and then stole $40 in cash and between seventy and eighty piculs of rice.

In reply to a letter addressed to him by the Chapel Peace Maintenance Corps, General Ho Feng-lin has written that he has issued orders to his forces to grant full protection to rice boats en route to Shanghai.

KUO WEN'S PEKING OFFICE SEALED UP; EMPLOYE HELD

Imprison Newspaperman Goes On Hunger Strike Following Arrest

The Peking Branch of the Kuo Wen News Agency has been sealed up by order of Tsao Kun and a member of its staff, Mr. Chow Chang-hung, has been arrested and imprisoned, according to a detailed report received here yesterday by the headquarters of the agency. Mr. Chow has gone on hunger strike.

The charge was for circulating rumor to create disturbance in Peking as a result of the circulation of Marshal Chang Tso-lin's declaration of war against Tsao Kun. The agency asserts that its branch in Mukden secured the declaration on August 31 and sent it immediately to the Peking agency, which circulated it on September 2. On the 3rd, a summons against Mr. Hu Lin, the proprietor who is stationed in Shanghai, was issued and served on the agency, which sent Mr. Chow to the police headquarters to make the necessary explanations. Mr. Chow was detained in spite of the fact that he produced the original letter from Mukden which sent the report.

On the night of the 5th, four constables visited the premises and sealed it up.

Russian Sentenced For Shoplifting At Whiteaway Laidlaw

Gregory Mikailoff, the young Russian arrested last week on a charge of shoplifting at Whiteaway, Laidlaw and Company's big store here, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday for trial before Assessor Ivanow and Magistrate Sung. The man is charged with the theft of a bedspread and table cover from the shop, having concealed the stolen property under his coat and left the shop before he was apprehended.

In Court yesterday Mr. Shinolavsky appeared for the complainant company, and outlined the case. The defendant, asked what he had to say, said that he was very poor, and had not wanted to steal anything. He has been deported from Shanghai before, however, and his record is not a good one. In addition to the shoplifting charge he was yesterday found guilty of returning from deportation, and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, with deportation to Vladivostok at the end of it.

Ulster Stand On Boundary Dispute Still Unchangea

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 11.—Sir James Craig, the Premier of Northern Ireland, in an interview today said that the letter which Lord Birkenhead wrote to the Earl of Balfour in March 1922, strongly contending that the boundary clause meant that the Boundary Commission was intended to make only minor adjustments, made no difference whatever in his attitude in regard to appointing a Boundary Commissioner.

ARMED DAYLIGHT ROBBERY NEAR SOOCHOW CREEK

Motor Truck Said To Have Been Used; Child Shot; Chauffeur Arrested

One man is arrested, three others are being searched for by the Police, and a child is shot and in a serious condition in the Paulun Hospital, as a result of a daylight robbery Thursday at a house at 71 Santai Road, near Soochow Creek, a little before noon, netting the robbers some $240 in money and jewelry. The men are believed to have arrived in a motor truck belonging to Messrs. G. N. Marshall and Company.

The four men arrived at the house, which is the home of a Chinese, Yang Hau-sze, about 11.15 a.m., and came in the back door. Only a woman and child were at home at the time. The robbers were armed with revolvers, and one of them stood guard at the door while the others went upstairs and ransacked the place for money and valuables. They are reported to have gotten $240 in cash and jewelry. A whistle was blown outside the house, however, and the men took flight, running down the alleyway from the house towards North Soochow Road, firing as they ran. A nine-year-old child was struck by a bullet and taken to Paulun Hospital, where he is now under treatment.

The robbers are said to have arrived in a motor truck belonging to Messrs. G. N. Marshall and Company. One of Marshall's trucks was found on North Soochow Road near the place, after the affair, abandoned and with the engine running at high speed. Kaung Chi-tsong, a chauffeur nineteen years of age, whom the police tried to locate after learning of the robbery and shooting, was found to have disappeared, and the police assumed him to have been implicated. He was later produced by his employers, and was placed under arrest. He appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday before Mrs. Whitamore, British Assessor, and Magistrate Li, charged with participation in the crime.

Inspector McKenzie outlined the case in Court. He added that there was an element of doubt as to the motive of the robbery, as there was a report that the men were after opium. He asked that the accused man be remanded for a week for further inquiries, and the Court ordered a remand as requested.

Lucille Douglass Writes Of Trip Through Europe

Miss Lucille Douglass, formerly a member of the staff of the Shanghai Sunday Times, chairman of the Literary and Art Department of the American Woman's Club, and active in the art field in Shanghai, has reached her home in Louisville, Kentucky after a most interesting trip by way of Suez, including in her itinerary India, Egypt, Palestine, Southern France, England and Canada. Miss Douglass in a letter to one of her friends in Shanghai writes some of the impressions of her trip and a few of the places visited.

"You see I am on the last lap of the journey and curiously enough it has brought me back to the starting point, Montreal, from where I go to St. Andrews Bay to see Mrs. Ayscough before going on to New York. Paris still seems to me the most wonderful, and I could not have been there at a better time. I reached there the day before the opening of the Olympic Games, surely a sight worth seeing. The city was en fete, and just Paris. The opening ceremonies of the games were most impressive. The Prince of Wales, Prince George, General Pershing and President Doumergue and all the Diplomatic Body witnessed the trooping of the colors, the flags from forty-five nations. It is a memory to keep. The two weeks were just a kaleidescope of impressions, everyone was there, and it was like walking into the warm circle of firelight to feel around me the familiar faces of those friends I know so well.

THE NEWEST FROCKS

"The days of pictures, clothes, and nights of music and shows, through it all the thread of reminiscence which seemed to bind us into a new brotherhood. For the Fourteenth of July I met a friend who has taken a beautiful old chateau in Normandy for the summer and we motored all about that lovely country. The evening of the fourteenth, we had dinner at Deauville and watched models and the world and his wife parade on the Peacock Terrace in the newest and smartest fashions. The thing that struck me most forcibly is the scantiness of attire in which a woman today can appear decently clothed. The frocks are absurdly short, some of them a scant two inches below the knees. The dancing is very slow and the tango remains a favorite. Paris is in uniform of black and white, you wonder who buys the colored frocks shown at the various houses. Model gazing was our morning diversion and we saw some wonderful frocks, but liked best Drecoll, and Jean Patow, at least they are the sanest. Always to me the fascination of Paris is the little shops, where anything for the lure of womankind is to be found.

We had a heavenly day in Chartres, motoring down and it pleased me to find that my impressions have not altered, it is still the matchless work of the masters of the French Gothic. There were some quiet hours at St. Chapelle, glowing like a ruby in the evening light, a pilgrimage to St. Etienne du Mont, long hours in the Louvre to offset the gaiety that laughs from every corner of Paris. Then one last party, a fresco, on the heights of Montmarte, under the very shadow of the Sacre Soeur and we laughed and talked while students drew our profiles, and apaches danced between tables. Light hearted we forgot the years between and were as care free as in our student days.

CROSS-CHANNEL FLIGHT

"Like a happy sigh next day, came the flight across the channel and there awaited me another friend from Shanghai. We had a very happy week, a lot in the country for it is in the country you see England and it was at full summer tide. We had some long days of painting on the Thames, stopping at quaint inns for tiffin and tea and one day at Oxford, rambling about the colleges. Mrs. MacCleod gave me much of her time for pictures and her beautiful apartment in White Hall Court, with its Chinese treasures, brought a wave of homesickness. Now America."

Miss Douglass in now visiting in the Southern States in America and plans to hold an exhibition of Chinese and Indian painting in New York during the month of October.

Negro Heavy Weight Wins From Argentinian In Twelve Round Bout

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

New York, Sept. 11.—Harry Wills defeated Luis Firpo on points in their twelve round bout this evening.

(Reuter's American Service)

Eighty thousand persons were present at the fight.

Firpo proved no match for Wills, whose defence was impenetrable. Wills succeeded in holding Firpo's rushes beautifully and at the same time inflicted heavy punishment on his opponent.

The only knock-down was in the second round, when Wills floored Firpo with a left to the jaw.

The referee frequently had to pry the men apart owing to clinching.

Firpo's gameness alone carried him through the terrific punishment which the negro administered.

Insurance Men Meet Decide War Rates; Agree On 1 Percent

An informal meeting of representatives of British insurance companies and of the American Asiatic Underwriters, was held yesterday in the officers of Jardine Matheson and Company of Shanghai for the purpose of arriving at a basic rate for war risk insurance inside the Settlements. It was reported that the meeting decided informally that one percent should be the basic rate for a period of three months.

This, however, does not pertain to rates on risks near the borders of the Settlements or outside of the Settlement limits. On risks on the borders of the Settlements and outside, rates are said to be made to meet the individual condition. It is understood that very few policies have been issued on properties outside of the foreign areas. The final rates for which insurance may be written here however, depends upon the decisions of the home offices in London and New York which rates in turn are based upon information regarding the situation in China available in those places.

Strength Of U.S. Navy Increased By Arrival Of Huron

The available shore strength of the American navy in Shanghai at present was increased by approximately 400 men who arrived here yesterday morning on the Huron flagship of the Pacific fleet of the U. S. Navy. It is not the intention of the naval authorities to land all these men for patrol duty in the emergency existing in Shanghai, unless war developments warrant it.

The entire Asiatic fleet is all assembled in the port here now with the exception of two ships at Cavite, in the Philippines, and four destroyers at Hankow, Nanking and Chekiang, respectively. All of these ships could funish men if required here, in a comparatively shore time.

The Huron, which arrived about 11 a.m. yesterday morning, is anchored off the Naval Buoy.

The American gobs ashore are in fine spirits, enjoying the change to shore duties. Their headquarters are at the Riverside Power Station and the Water Works, from which detachments are sent out to points along the boundary of the settlement where they maintain their posts.

Premier Mussolini Stirs Roman Crowds To Frenzy

Rome, Aug. 7.—"I will remain at my post to which I am bound not by conflict or by desire for power, but by a religious sense of duty," said Mussolini this evening from the balcony of his office at the Palazzo Chigi in the first public speech he has made since Deputy Matteotti's murder.

Fifty thousand hats waving madly in the air and deafening applause from 50,000 throats repeated this announcement which was made in Mussolini's usual forceful and direct style which has endeared him to Italian crowds. Round upon round of cheers from the Roman populace which seemed frenzied with enthusiasm prevented him from continuing his speech for fully five minutes.

The occasion for Mussolini's speech was furnished by an improvised parade of a few hundred ex-combatants who marched to Mussolini's office to renew to him expressions of their undying devotion.

They were followed by thousands of Roman citizens, who soon filled the vast square in front of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, lustily calling upon Mussolini to appear at the balcony and speak to them. When he finally stepped out of his workroom on to the balcony scenes of enthusiasm occurred which can only be compared to ones that were witnessed in the demonstrations of loyalty of which he was the object in Rome after his victory in the elections. The huge square was a sea of waving hats and handkerchiefs, while rapturous shouts reached the stars.

After expressing his gratitude to the Roman people for their demonstration of sympathy which was all the more valuable in that it was quite unsolicited, Mussolini continued:

"Only two months ago in this very place I said, 'Let all parties, including ours, perish, provided Italy becomes strong and great.' We can say with clear consciences that we have sincerely striven with all our strength to live up to this ideal. But can the Opposition say the same?'

A tremendous "No," shouted by scores of thousands of listeners was his answer.

"The opposition," resumed Mussolini, "is daily guilty of moral violence against Fascism by painting it as something which it absolutely is not. Fascism has given wonderful proof of discipline in the face of overt provocations and will continue to remain disciplined. But I ask you who were my companions in the war in the trenches on the Carso where we suffered and bled and fought and won together, can we turn back?"

Again he was answered by a formidable "No! No!"

"As for myself," concluded Mussolini, "I will continue to do my duty and I am certain that I can count on you to answer my call if at any time I shall need the people who are ready to sacrifice their lives for their country."

After saying these words Mussolini quickly withdrew while the crowd remained half an hour stationary under his window,, shouting and cheering, but all to no avail for Mussolini did not appear again.

Deputy Farinacci, Fascist member of Parliament for Cremona and leader of the "savage" wing of Fascism, happened to enter the Square at this point. He was immediately surrounded by an enthusiastic crowd which lifted him shoulder high and carried him in triumph through the streets of Rome.

This demonstration of sympathy for Farinacci is typical of the gradual evolution which is taking place in Fascism. The more the opposition hammers at Fascism and denounces it and all its ways, the more Fascist does Fascism become.

After staging a hostile demonstration against several opposition newspaper and obliging the press federation to hang out its flag, the immense crowd which had gathered to do honor to Mussolini gradually dissolved without giving rise to unpleasant incidents.

OPPOSITION HOLDS OFF

Leaders of the opposition parties, meeting today, renewed their decision not to participate in parliamentary work as long as the present methods of the Fascist Government continued to prevail.

The opposition called its refusal to co-operate "retiring to the aventine hill." The leaders particularly disapprove the Fascist Government's program regarding controlling the liberty of the press and the methods of incorporating the Fascista militia into the regular army.

U.S. Players Beat Australian Team In Davis Cup

(Reuter's American Service)

Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—The first two singles matches of the challenge round of the Davis Cup Competition were played here today, the holders winning both games.

W. T. Tilden (United States) defeated G. L. Patterson (Australia), 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

Vincent Richards (United States) beat P. O'Hara Wood (Australia) 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Patterson took the lead, winning three games on brilliant service. Tilden then broke through and by masterly placings took the set. Tilden in the second set began a long-range bombardment on his rival's backhand and won without being extended. Likewise the champion easily took the third set. Playing a back-court game, the American made a series of dazzling placings on the sidelines past Patterson's back-hand.

In the second match, Wood's pace and splendid placing was at first too much for Richards, but the latter soon found himself and by brisk volleying and severe serving won the set. He made few errors and played a careful driving game. The American took the second set through persistently coming to the net and swiftly rattling volley-shots past Wood The Australian then rallied splendidly and pushed Richards to the utmost, but the American again won by terrific drives past his opponent.

S.R.A. Rifle Meet Postponed Two Weeks

The Arethusa Cup Competition of the Shanghai Rifle Association has been postponed from tomorrow, September 14, as scheduled until September 28, it is announced by the S. R. A.

The Committee of the Association came to this decision as a result of the small number of entries for the meet, due presumably to the large number of S. R.A. members and intending competitors now engaged in the defence of the Settlement.

Woman's Pursuit Cause Of Death Of Archaeologits

(Reuter's Service)

Leeds, Sept. 11.—A verdict of "Suicide while of unsound mind" was returned at the inquest today on Mr. H. G. Evelyn White, the well-known Far East and Egypt archaeologist, who shot himself on Tuesday while proceeding to the inquest on Miss Helen Nind, a Leeds music teacher who had poisoned herself.

A brother of the deceased said that Mr. White a week ago had been very upset and had told him that Miss Nind had been pursuing him and that he had no affection for her. Miss Nind had threatened to commit suicide.

Dr. Maxwell-Telling, a personal friend of Mr. White, expressed the conviction that the relationship between the deceased and Miss Nind had been absolutely innocent.

A letter written by deceased said: "....I know there was a curse on me. Though I had leave to take those manuscripts to Cairo the monks told me that the curse would work all the same. Now it has done so."

Sungkiang Receives First War Casualty; Woman Is Wounded

(China Press Correspondent)

Sungkiang, Sept. 10.—The exodus continues from our city. Those who are not able to go to Shanghai are now getting off to such places as can in the country by boat or by foot.

Our Red Cross doctors received their first victim of the war in this section this morning. It was a poor country woman who had been accidentally shot. It seems that some soldiers were putting up their tent near Tien Mo San, when a countryman and his wife drew near out of curiosity to have a peep at the thing. Being suspicious of spies, the soldiers tried to get the husband, but as might have been expected they hit the wife instead. Two bullets struck her, one making a mere flesh wound, while the other was much more serious. It went through her thigh and effected a compound fracture of the bone. Unfortunately the wound was made by one of those cruel soft nosed bullets, which civilised nations have outlawed and it produced a ghastly wound. Our doctors made a careful dressing of the wound and the poor woman is now lying in the Women's Bible School. We are sadly in need of a good nurse and I do not know what is to be done in case there be many casualties near here. As Tsingpu is only about fifteen miles away, we are very likely to get more.

Junta Of Three Now Rules Chile

(Reuter's American Service)

Santiago de Chile, Sept. 11.—As a result of the overthrow of the Government, following a memorial to the President by officers of the Army and the Navy, the President resigned today and was granted six months' leave.

A junta of three has now been formed, comprising General Altamirano, General Bennett and Admiral Neff, which will dissolve Congress.

Manila, Sept. 12.—A bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives barring foreign fishermen from Philippine waters.

The bill is said to be aimed against the Japanese fishing industry in Manila Bay which has now become a virtual monopoly.

SHANTUNG ROAD HOSPITAL VERY MUCH OVERTAXED

Appeal Is Made For Aid In View Of Influx Of Refugees

The enormous amount of work which the staff of the Shantung Road Hospital has to deal with is illustrated by the statistics of last Monday. On that one day alone 642 patients sought help and treatment. Of this number 21 were injuries or accidents, 58 were employees in Municipal and other service, and 197 were women. Out of the total number 19 were retained in Hospital for in-patient treatment, making the total number of in-patients on that day 161.

Much though the staff would wish for the hospital to participate in Red Cross work, such a course is impossible without neglect of duty and injury toward the civilian population.

Some patients are afraid to visit hospitals at the present juncture outside the settlement, and some hospitals inside the settlement have already reduced their bed accommodation for civilians. The call on it for help from civilians is thus greatly increased.

As more distressed and distracted refugees flock into the Settlement, this need for help will doubtless increase more and more.

Once again, as has so often been the case during its eighty-one years of service, this old institution stands as a refuge and blessing for the salvation of the people, in the center of Shanghai's busy crowded population. Help in the way of funds and medical supplies is urgently needed to meet the present increased demands.

YUE CHONG COAL COMPANY

25-26 North Soochow Road, Shanghai.

Telephons: North 651 and North 1717

We have been carrying on our business for more than thirty years and have been enjoying the confidence and commendation of the public. We are selling the coals of the best Chinese coal mines, such as, Dah Doong Coal, Ching Hsing Coal, Chung Hsing Coal, Tung Woo Coal, Houchi Coal, Liu Ho Kow Coal as well as Saghaline Coal. The Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo Railway, Compagnie des Messageries Maritimes, and Italian, American, French and Chinese Warships, Cotton Mills and other industrial factories have been purchasing great quantities of coal from us, and our annual sale amounts to 200,000 tons.

Our coal is best selected and at moderate prices, and consumers may rely on us in obtaining the right kind of coal as named on their order, and that is why our business has been increasing steadily.

Orders from foreign warships are especially welcome. It is understood that warships used to purchase coal from the merchants who are not belonging to the coal trade and who obtain their coal after passing many hands. These merchants do not understand what is the right coal for warships, therefore they are liable to be cheated by these merchants. Such actions bring serious damage to the names of our Chinese coal mines.

We are doing business on thoroughly honest basis in a measure to preserve the name of our Chinese coals as well as to push our business. We guarantee the satisfaction of foreign steamships who may place orders with us.

CHINESE FOUND GUILTY ON ARMS CHARGE HERE

Carpenter Gets Nine Months For Charge On Which Indian Freed In British Court

A Chinese carpeeter, Tsang Aub-ling, was yesterday sentenced in the Mixed Court to nine months' imprisonment for importing arms and ammunition. The case was the result of a search last Monday morning at the man's shop on Woosung Road. D. S. I. Schmidt was in charge of the search, when 9 Mauser pistols and over a thousand rounds of ammunition, together with removable gun stocks, were found concealed in two boxes with false bottoms and a basket with a bottom not fisished.

The accused, when arrested, said that an Indian, Faku Kamn, had ordered the boxes made. The Indian, who proved to be a Punjab Mussulman, was located at his home on Quinsan Road, where a search revealed a pistol under the mattress on his bed and some gunstocks in the corner. The Indian was arrested, and charged in the British Police Court with the importing of arms and ammunition.

At the trial of the Indian it developed that he was formerly a watchman, but had now been six months without employment, while living well and in fact supporting two households, having given $2,000 to his favorite mistress but a few weeks ago. He said he did not know how the pistol got under his mattress, and disclaimed all knowledge of the arms and boxes at the carpenter's. Magistrate King dismissed the case, pointing out that after all the main witness, the carpenter's wife, was a directly interested party, and under British law a man could not be sentenced upon the testimony of the wife of his accomplice.

In the Mixed Court, however, Chinese law prevails, and yesterday, when the case was outlined there, the carpenter was found guilty and sentenced to nine months in jail for arms trafficking. He said he had received $3 each for the false-bottom boxes he made for the Indian.

The pistols and ammunition were ordered confiscated.

"EAT LESS MEAT"

Presserve Your Health and Annoy the Profiteer: Butchers Pushing up Prices

War's extremity is the butcher's opportunity. Such seems the view of Shanghai meat dealers, for they have seized their chance to boost their prices 40 percent., as announced elsewhere. That this is a matter of profit-making is shown by a study of the market price list showing the rates prevailing in the Hongkew Market. Form this illuminating document giving the difference in prices of September 2 and 9 we deduce that the ultimate consumer is likely to be squeezed again. The greatest advance in price there noted is in beef, an advance of 25 per cent. in the less expensive cuts, while the best cuts have advanced only 18 percent. That is, beef quoted on September 2 at from 16 to 30 cents a pound has advanced to 20 and 35.

Mutton, which was only 18 to 30 is now 25-35 while pork has not advanced at all and veal but slightly. No justification is shown for the advance of 40 per cent. advertised. Fish has not advanced in any instance and indeed cod is cheaper than before. Ducks, fowls, geese, pigeons, quail, snipe and turkey are just the same price, while eggs have risen 25 per cent. for "just eggs" and 18 per cent. for the number one quality. With regard to vegetables and fruit the price is only slightly higher though the price of potatoes has risen from $2.00-2.20 to $2.20-$2.60. A detailed list follows:—

Butcher's Meat

The moral which these statistics point is that preached by all the hoardings during the War: "Eat Less Meat." It is admitted that we all eat too much meat for our health. What better time than the present to cut down the meat ration and reprove the profiteer at the same time? The housewives of Shanghai have it in their power to stop this hold-up at once and benefit their families by doing so.

Old China hands will remember previous occasions when floods and famine have been made scapegoats for patent squeeze, inasmuch as the articles sold at advanced prices did not come from districts affected in any respect. War will doubtless bring inconveniences even to the protected foreign community, but it need not be an excuse for profiteering.

JOHN W DAVIS IS NO KLANSMAN AND NEVER WILL BE

Democratic Nominee Scotches Rumor In 75-word Letter To Enquirer

New York, Aug. 8.—John W. Davis is not a member of Ku Klux Klan, has never been one and will not become a member of that organisation.

In as few words as possible he made this abundantly clear in a letter he wrote yesterday before leaving for Poughkeepsie and the Roosevelt clam bake at Hyde Park. The letter was sent to Devere Allen, 396 Broadway.

According to Thomas J. Spellacy, manager of the Davis campaign in the Eastern division, Mr. Allen had written to the nominee calling attention to a rumor that Mr. Davis was a Klan member and asking whether it were true. Mr. Davis replied:

Aug. 7, 1924

Dear Mr. Allen:

In reply to your letter, which has been brought to my attention, I answer the question in the same direct manner you put it; by saying that I am not, never have been, and will not become a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

I trust that in my coming speech of acceptance I shall make my position on the great question of religious toleration too plain for any misunderstanding or dispute.

JOHN W. DAVIS.

Devere Allen, Esq.,
396 Broadway New York, N. Y.

The declaration by Mr. Davis is the first he has made on the subject since the Democratic National Convention in which the Klan issue played such an important part. While he was at Bar Harbor, Me., the question came up, once after he was visited by William R. Pattingall, Democratic candidate for Governor of Maine, and one of the speakers in favor of naming the Klan in the platform of the party, and once after it was reported he would object to the renomination of Governor Smith on a State platform that should name the Klan.

The latter suggestion Mr. Davis characterize as ridiculous and said he had noticed that State Committees had a way of writing their own platforms. After Mr. Pattingall's visit he refused to discuss he Klan question, or say whether he had discussed it with Pattingall. When he was asked if he expected the issue to be revived, he said: "The court has adjourned." This was taken to indicate that he would not openly discuss the matter in the campaign.

The letter made public yesterday is understood to indicate that Mr. Davis will deal with matters relating to the Klan in his speech of acceptance, but probably without mentioning the organisation by name, which would be wholly compatible with the platform of the party. About Democratic headquarters the emphasis conveyed in the brief and direct way in which he answered Mr. Allen was regarded as giving an indication of his personal views.

Early in the day there was a good deal of activity about the headquarters, but the names of those who are to serve on the Finance Committee were not made public as expected. Former Senator Charles A. Towne of Minnesota was a visitor. Before he left town Mr. Davis had a brief talk with Clem Shaver, acting Chairman of the National Committee. There was added to the personnel of the headquarters George F. Mara, who managed the preliminaries here, and Robert Scott, formerly secretary to Attorney General A. Mitchell Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer.

As Nanking Sees It

Nanking, Sept. 9.—There has been no change in local conditions and previous statements as to the possibility of danger may still be accepted.

For the past three days Honan troops have been arriving at Pukow by rail and have left by the Shanghai-Nanking Railway for the front. This morning a Brigade of Hupeh troops arrived on the s.s. Kangshun and are leaving by the Shanghai-Nanking Railway.

Reports received by this office would seem to indicate that the Chekiang forces are retreating.

Tientsin recruits for the local police force arrived from Tientsin on Monday.

The wounded are arriving in Nanking daily and in increasing numbers. Thus far they have all been taken to the Military Hospital at Si Liu Hsiang.

Official communiques are being issued daily, at the Yamen. According to these, the Kiangsu troops are pressing toward Hwangtu, (between Quinsan and Nanziang) and now occupy the west bank of the stream at Hwangtu. Liuho on the Yangtsze was captured by Kiangsu troops on the morning of the 6th, the wounded from this fight, about twenty, were brought back to Nanking, Sunday night. An air attack was made on Nanziang Saturday and several bombs dropped, frightening greatly soldiers and civilians. According to yesterday's communique, the Kiangsu aeroplanes have flown over enemy lines without resistance. Chekiang is said to be in desperate need of aviators. Kiangsu claims that Chekiang began the fighting with a sudden raid.

Two of General Feng Yu-hsiang's brigades are on the way now from Peking to the fighting front.

At the yamen, it is admitted that the fighting to date has been mere skirmishing and sparring. The Kiangsu forces have two immediate objectives, Nanziang and Chekiang line south of Ishing (thirty miles south of Changchow), where Lu has concentrated heavy forces.

Counsels are divided at Fengtien. Part of Chang Tso-lin's staff is for immediate participation in the war, part for waiting to see how the tide of battle turns.

Chi's general staff is confident that Kiangsu has superior strength and will win.

A reliable report has come from Wuhu that Anhwei troops, loyal to Chi, are being moved to Kwangtehchow on the Anhwei-Chekiang border. This is a pass in the mountains, and the road thence leads to Hangchow.

The following are samples of rumors going the rounds. Chi heavily defeated and driven back to Soochow—Chi captures Shanghai—General Ho Feng-lin flees to the International Settlement—and Yang somebody is made high mogul of Chekiang.

The Intelligence committee accepts no responsibility for the above. We are doing our best to get the most reliable data possible for you.

Nanking, Sept. 8.—The general situation remains very little changed. Some stiff fighting has occurred, but apparently no decisive engagements have taken place. A number of wounded Kiangsu soldiers have been brought to Nanking. The local situation remains about as before.

Nanking Robbers Inflict Wounds On Two Professors

Two professors of the National Southeastern University of Nanking were injured, one seriously, as robbers broke into their home and got away with several thousand dollars worth of articles and money, according to letters received here by the friends of the teachers. One of them, Dr. J. P. Chu is now at the Drum Tower Hospital under the care of Dr. Chang and will not be able to leave hospital until two weeks later. The other, Mr. K. T. Mey, was only slightly injured.

Both the professors lived in a house, belonging to an official in the neighborhood of the university. When the outlaws broke into their home, Dr. Chu put up a good fight, but he was overpowered and was wounded about the body and had several ribs broken. A considerable amount of the belonging was robbed, while a collection of books belonging to Mr. Mey was dumped in a nearby creek and destroyed.

Changes Loom In Canton Government

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, Sept. 11.—It is reported in well-informed Chinese circles here that Mr. Liao Chung-kai, Civil Governor of Kwangtung, will possibly resign from his post after the Midautumn Festival, and that as his successor, either Mr. Hu Han-min or General Hsu Chung-chih will i appointed. General Wu Tieh-cheng, chief of the peace preservation bureau, has resigned in order to accompany Dr. Sun to Shaokwan at the head of his military guards, who will join the expedition as its vanguard. It is expected that Mr. Sun Fo, Mayor of Canton, will shortly proceed to Mukden to make arrangements with Marshal Chang Tso-lin as regards the present situation and that his successor will, as announced by Dr. Sun, be elected by the citizens.

COOKED 61 YEARS ON PET STOVE, IS WOMAN'S RECORD

Still Gleams Despite The 67,000 Meals That Were Prepared

Quinton, N. J., August 16.—Cooking a single meal for the family in a gas or electrically equipped kitchen seems like a big task to most housewives these hot August days, but Mrs. Herbert Sheets, who has lived in this Salem County village long enough to have cooked 67,000 meals all on the same stove still likes to cook.

Winter and Summer, morning, noon and night, for sixty-one years, Mrs. Sheets has prepared the food for her family on the same stove that her husband bought for her as his bride when they were married on Washington's Birthday, 1863.

"I have always liked to cook," said Mrs. Sheets, whose back is bent from so much stooping to stir a pot or to see how bread or pies were browning in the oven.

"I get a little spent and tired sometimes," she continued, and then explained half apologetically that she now buys her bread, and occasionally cakes, from the village baker. Until recently she did all her own baking in addition to preparing the regular three meals a day. For sixty-one Summers she and her stove have tackled with bright faces the job of almost endless canning and preserving.

"Just plain, ordinary cooking is what I do," she went on, when asked what she likes to cook the most. "I have never bothered much with fancy dishes—just those substantial things for my husband and our boys and girls.

"No, I never counted up to see how many meals I've cooked on this stove. It's the only stove we've ever had, and I don't have to tell you it's a good one when I say that we've used it every day since we were married. It has a good oven. I dry all of my wood in there, and it's still fine for baking. Once, some years ago, we had a new top put on the stove. That's about the only thing about the stove that has ever needed fixing since we got it."

BURNS COAL AND WOOD

The stove which has cooked the food and provided much of the heat in Winter for Mr. and Mrs. Sheets during their long married life was cast in a Philadelphia foundry by a firm now extinct. It is of the old-fashioned design of the '60s, with ample firebox, large oven, and four lids. It burns either coal or wood. As wood has been most abundant in the communities where the family has lived, that has been the principal fuel; so, in addition to the cooking, the kindling of fires has been no small part of Mrs. Sheets's kitchen tasks.

So brightly polished does Mrs Sheets keep her stove that it does not look old even now. Its surface reflected her face as she stooped to take from the oven, to show to visitors the other day a bread pan which was also one of her wedding gifts. This pan, too, has lasted through all the years.

Upon this stove's polished surface dropped the tears of disappointment of the bride who scorched her first meal. From its hot face rose those whips of steam as a mother's tears welled in joy over the coming of children into the home, or flowed in sorrow over the last meal prepared for their departure from the old threshold into the big, wide world. Later splashed those tears of gratitude, which left spots that had to be rubbed off, after the nimble accustomed hands had prepared the feasts for the golden wedding and still more recently for the sixtieth and sixty-first wedding anniversaries.

This little woman does not regard it as remarkable that she and her stove have probably set a record for all America. She likes to cook, the stove just suits her, and her husband and family have enjoyed her cooking through all these years. What more could any housewife ask?

HAS PROGENY OF EIGHTY-FIVE

Furthermore, her family has thrived on her cooking. If the fact that she and her husband still survive after nearly sixty-one years and six months of married life, is it not sufficient proof of her culinary ability, then there are the five stalwart sons and daughters, all still living, and a progeny of eighty grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Sheets makes more account of the number of her grandchildren than she does of the high score she has achieved in cooking meals. They are now scattered in many parts of the [illegible] from being in California and not all of them have had a chance to taste the cookies and pies and other good things from grandmother's famous stove.

Mrs. Sheets dropped for the moment the talk about her stove to carry a plate of sages to her husband, now housebound by age. He is a native of France and came to this country when a boy. The girl he chose for a wife was born down along the shores of Barnegat Bay. He followed for half a century or longer his trade as a glass flattener, first at Winslow, Camden County, and later at Quinton. He retired several years ago.

The five children reared through the mother's skillful care and cooking are Mrs. Mary Buhlman, Arnold, Pa.; Frank Sheets, Fishing Creek, Cape May County, N. J.; Joseph Sheets, Camden, N. J.; Mrs. Margaret Myers, California, and Alfred Sheets, Erie, Pa.

One of the boys came home for a visit with the old folks the other day. He said that when his mother has cooked her last meal on the old stove he is going to have it carefully packed and shipped to his home, where he will uncover it only upon important family occasions to show it to a growing line of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

China Cotton

Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son, Inc., state in their current report relative to the cotton market:

The market during the past week has again been nervous and erratic but the tendency, on the whole, has been downward in sympathy with declines in Mid-Americans, and the net change in prices for the week showing a moderate decline. At the close, however, in sympathy with the unfavorable climatical conditions, a gradual stiffening of some half a tael from the level had been attained.

Regarding the outlook in the broadest way, as already referred to in our previous reports, a conservative policy appears to be desirable for the immediate future. The situation continues to hinge on the progress of the world crops from now on until maturation and also peace outlook in China.

Yarn:—The yarn market has been keeping steady during the past week with a slight weakness showing at the close. Prices declined one tael as compares with last week's level. In all some 1,000 to 1,100 bales of local spinnings have been booked for export to Tientsin, Canton, Szechuen, Swatow, Yunan and Ningpo.

SPUNT & CO.'S REPORT

Messrs. J. Spunt and Co.'s report states:

Due to the general depression in the yearn trade which has become very much accentuated by the internal warfare now in progress in the vicinity of Shanghai, and the apprehension felt that such will develop in a general conflict in China, a major portion of the mills, both foreign and Chinese, have further considerably curtailed their spindleage. Consequently, spinners in general, during the past week, have shown but very scanty interest in the local staple either for near or distant deliveries and notwithstanding the heavy declines registered in Mid-Americans and Indians, prices in the local Cotton Exchange indicated, on the whole, only a very slight recession in the rates with a tendency at the close toward higher levels, apparently engendered by the likelihood of the torrential rains now being experienced damaging the near harvesting crop to a serious extent.

Tone of the market: Firm.

French Silk Trade Gains

French customs figures for the first four months of 1924 show that imports of raw silk and exports of silk manufactures both continue to increase, says Consul H. H. Watson, Lyons, in a report to the American Department of Commerce. Imports of raw silk amounted to 1,321,500 kilos (a kilo equals 2.2046 pounds), compared with 928,500 kilos for the first four months of 1923. Exports of silk fabrics, passementeries, ribbons, etc., were valued at 1,643,953,000 francs, compared kith 622,411,000 francs for the same period of 1923. The raw silk imports came principally from Italy and China, Italian figures showing the largest increase. The two countries taking the largest amounts of French silk manufactures were England and the United States, the value of the goods sent to each of these countries during the first four months of 1924 being almost double the amount sent during the [illegible]

AMERICA'S SUPPLY OF GASOLINE IS REPORTED AMPLE

Increase In Consumption Is Offset By A Better Mode Of Extraction

While the outlook for gasoline consumption in the United States is unusually favorable at the present time, "statistics are leading people astray in their estimation of the oil industry," according to the opinion expressed by Mining and Metallurgy, the official publication of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. "Too much weight is being given to the number of automobiles and their anticipated gasoline consumption," it says, "and too little consideration given to the improvements in the extraction which greatly increase the gasoline yield from crude oil." Gasoline consumption in the United States, it is pointed out, has increased rapidly in the last decade and may be expected to continue to increase for some time to come, but according to the opinion, there has been no gasoline shortage at any time, except during the war, and a shortage in the near future is to be doubted. The gasoline stocks on hand on May 1 were 9,800,000 barrels, the largest in the history of the industry, but at the current rate of consumpion that amounted to only 105 days' supply, which is the same surplus which was on hand the same date last year.

Crude oil production, on the other hand, has increased more than anticipated and has reached another of its frequent peaks, but the increase in the percentage yield of gasoline on the crude through deeper cutting, conversion of cheaper crude into gasoline by cracking, and the recovery of very light gasoline from natural gas, is the hidden factor which upsets the superficial calculations. The increasing gasoline production, though only normal, is not governed by the quantity of crude alone on the old basis, but on the quantity of crude which, due to the present potential increased use of cracking methods gives more gasoline than formerly from heavier oils. The development of the cracking process means that a real curtailment in crude oil could come without endangering the fuel supply for the country's automobiles.

"Figures obtained by a prominent oil journal from the various States for the first four months of the current year," says the paper, "heaviest period of registration, show between Jan. 1 and May 1, 1924, a total of 13,513,335 cars and trucks were registered, against 10,818,-132 in the same period last year. The average gain of all the States compared with last year was 24.9 percent. The total estimated registration for 1924 will be over 19,000,000 cars, against 9,250,-000 in 1920 and a little over 1,000,000 in 1912.

"Due to the increased number of cars registered, it is estimated that they will use about 7,000,-000,000 gallons of gasoline this old basis, but on the quantity of year, which, with exports and other domestic needs, will bring the total estimate for the year above 9,000,000,000 gallons, compared with 7,500,000,000 gallons last year. On June 4 Henry Ford turned out the ten millionth flivver. While it is true that other auomobile companies have not been increasing their production like the Ford plant, the production of automobiles is still on the increase and the saturation point does not seem to be in sight, despite the fact that our roads, and particularly our city streets, have reached almost the ultimate carrying capacity for traffic. Probably the majority of people who own cars cannot afford them. This, however, is no direct concern to the producing companies so long as they can market their gasoline for cash.

"The backwardness of the season in the Northern and Northeastern sections of the country thus far this year has greatly reduced the sale of automobiles, as well as the consumption of gasoline. Like any other hours of fleeting time, those hours which have not already been spent in automobiling this year can never be spent again and it is doubtful whether they can make up during the balance of the year for the gasoline consumption which they saved thus far.

"In the meantime, according to current figures given out by the Bureau of Mines, the petroleum refineries of the United States in the month of April established a new record for the production of gasoline, which amounted to 754,773,000 gallons. This figure surpasses by more than 11,000,-000 gallons the high record production mark made in March, which had in turn passed by 48,00,000 gallons the previous high record set in January. However accurate these figures may be the important fundamental consideration is overlooked, and prognostications thus made do not work out.'

Palestine Removes Duty On Machinery

Implements Intended For Industrial Purposes To Go Free

Perhaps the most important legislation enacted in Palestine in many years has just been passed by the Palestinian Government. Its enactment removes customs duties from all machinery intended for industrial purposes imported into the Holy Land and is, therefore, expected to improve materially the industrial condition of the country.

The following articles when imported for use in factories and industrial establishments by the proprietor or manager, or for purposes of irrigation, drainage, sewage and water supply, may be exempt from duty, according to the ordinance:

"Machinery and component parts thereof, meaning machines or sets of machines to be worked by electric, steam, fire or other power, other than human or animal power, or requiring before being brought into use, to be fixed with reference to other moving parts; provided that the exemption includes machines made of substances other than metal, and belting or materials for driving machinery, but not machinery, tools or implements to be worked by manual or animal labor, and provided also that only such articles shall be admitted as component parts of machinery as are indispensable to the working of machinery and owing to their shape or other special quality are not adapted for any other purpose."

Other articles included in the legislation are vines on American stock, seeds, routs, tubers and bulbs for sowing purposes; nursery stock, guano and other substances suitable for use as fertilizers, and substances and equipment for the prevention or destruction of pests or disease in stock, plants or trees.

Also animals, including poultry, imported for the improvement of stock; bees, beehives and beekeeping apparatus; vaccine, lymph, sera, anti-toxins and rat virus for veterinary purposes.

Among the settler's effects that may now be imported free are household and personal effects, such as furniture, pictures, linen, cutlery, crockery, sewing machines, musical instruments, etc., whether new or used; implements and instruments of trade; carts, wagons, fodder for live stock and food for poultry.

Ships, launches, lighters, boats and barges and integral constructional parts thereof, are included in the free duty law, as are printed books and printed matter generally, architectural and scientific designs, drawing materials, diagrams, etc., and samples, provided they are not such as can be sold as merchandise.

VIENNA BANKS REACHING OUT TO NEAR EAST

Branches Being Formed In Rumania And Turkey To Develop Oil

Banks, which do not confine their activities to the small market of the Austrian Republic, but act as financiers for the whole central and southeastern Europe and are the acknowledged mediators between western capital and eastern industries and commercial concerns, are now planning a systematic extension of their sphere of influence to Rumania and Turkey.

Preliminary negotiations with the Rumanian Government led to the decision, to cover Rumania with a net of branch establishments of Viennese banks, which are to stimulate the development of the national industry and trade of Rumania and to provide for them the necessary capital. Especially the Rumanian oil fields are to profit from this enterprise. The lead will be taken by the "Centraleuropaeische Laenderbank" here, which is since 1921 a French bank, and by the "Anglo-Austrian Bank, Lt." which was recently converted into a British concern. The "Wiener Bankverein" and the "Mercurbank" will also take part.

American capital is likely to be indirectly involved in the economic reconstruction of Turkey, in which the "Bodenkredit Anstalt" and the "Oesterreinchische Creditanstalt" will play an important role, as the latter is affiliated with "Kuhn, Loeb and Co." and with the "Guaranty Trust" in New York. The two Austrian concerns will co-operate with several leading Swiss banks, and have already assured themselves of the encouragement of the government in Angora.

While it is nothing new that Austrian big banks, whose size and international influence is much bigger than a small territory like the one of present Austria, needs operate abroad, the present expansive movement is of more than ordinary interest, because it comes at a time of great depression on the home market. Austrian banking, which was originally built up for the needs of the second biggest state in Europe—i. e. the Austro-Hungarian monarchy—is forced to seek ever new working possibilities abroad if it is not to dwindle into insignificance. That these attempts are successful proves better than anything else that modern capitalism does not pay much heed to political changes, and that its tendency goes toward an economic Pan-Europe, despite the increased particularism on the political field.

Weather Reports

Sept. 11.—The depression owing to the typhoon which has landed near Amoy three days ago is still holding on, and is apparently moving slowly N ward or NNE ward. A minimum appears to the North of the Meiaco-Sima. Unsteady winds over the Yellow and Eastern Seas. Heavy showers and thunderstorm during the afternoon probably resulting from the above depression over Kwongtung.

Sept. 12.—Cloudy and misty morning, very damp. Slight ENEly breeze.

Sept. 13.—The depression will continue NNE'wards, crossing Fukien and probably Chekiang raising a cyclonic circulation and perhaps rough weather along the coast, in the Formosa strait and over the Eastern Sea up to the Saddles. Showers and thunderstorms, Nly winds over Shantung.

The Kiangnan Arsenal—Its Equipment

IN view of the fact that the chief announced reason for the present Kiangsu-Chekiang war is over the control of the Shanghai or Kiangnan Arsenal, it is of interest to reprint here the following statement regarding the equipment of the Arsenal which appears in the last issue of the China Year Book:

"This has always been the most important arsenal in China. Prior to the establishment of the Republic, foreign experts were employed, but in recent years the management has been Chinese only, most of the department heads having been trained in Germany. The large gun plant was originally imported from England and was capable of turning out all calibres up to 9-inch pieces. This plant has now been out of commission for fifteen years or more, but a small German plant was added in recent years and field pieces of the Krupp pattern have been made in rather irregular quantities. The average output is probably about 50 a year.

"The machinery in the small arms factory is all German and was designed to make what was formerly the Chinese service rifle, the German Snider or 1898 model.

"The equipment in the steel furnaces and rolling mills is all British, Siemen-Martins process. The hematite iron ore used is imported from abroad because it is cheaper than the same ore mined in China. The output of cartridges is about 50,000 a month (now reported to be as many daily). The number of rifles produced is unknown. In 1921 no rifles were manufactured. The plant is equipped to make black powder, brown powder and smokeless powder. The Arsenal is said to be over $2,000,000 in debt and production is at a low ebb because of the shortage of funds."

Canada's Defences

THE speech made by Capt. Henry J. Parker, senior officer of H.M.S. Repulse, at a Rotary Club luncheon at Halifax, Nova Scotia, a report of which we published yesterday, is certainly remarkable enough to warrant the attention given it by Reuter. There is a purely domestic aspect in connection with the speech which may receive the attention of Whitehall, for we doubt considerably whether the British Government will entirely approve of the sentiments therein expressed by an officer actually in the service. While Capt. Parker advocated that the Dominion should take measures for its naval defence, Major-General Thacker sounded a similar cry in favor of military measures which he apparently considered necessary, the gravamen of the whole matter being apparently that Canada spent less per capita on national defence then any other country in the world, with the exception of Bolivia. In these days when every effort is being made towards the establishment of means for effecting a permanent peace, it is little less than alarming to find that protagonists of armed defence should be preaching the gospel which the world is only too anxious to discard. For such effort is calculated to discount the work done in a more pacific direction, and to raise bogeys more fearsome in aspect than in reality.

What has Canada to fear for herself which is not a menace to the whole of the British Empire? What danger could threaten the latter which, if successful, would not engulf the former? The questions have only to be put to realise the absurdity of the proposition they contain. The United States certainly constitutes no grave threat, for the existence of not one fortress on a three-thousand mile frontier between the two is the best possible proof of present peace, and guarantee for future amity. Nor does there appear any other power to threaten Canada, either by reason of proximity or possession of sufficient forces. And, in any event, it is doubtful if the population of Canada could make anything like the preparation against possible aggression which, of itself, would be sufficient insurance against attack without unduly burdening the taxpayer.

From a British point of view, the suggestion that the Dominions should consider their defence as a matter purely of their own concern cannot but be regretted. Already the ties which bind the Empire together are loose enough, until the Empire has become practically a federation of self-governing states bonded together by that same mutual interest which served them so well in the war. If Canada, South Africa and Australia are to consider the question of defence as pertaining solely to themselves individually, the broader view of imperial defence may very soon be lost. It is true that some of the Dominions already have navies of their own, but these were never intended to solve the question of each colony's defence. Thus when the British Empire is at war, so also are the colonies, and we have yet to learn that a colony, of itself, can declare war, or that if it were attacked it would be left to its own devices.

It is to be wondered, too, how any proposition for the development of substantial navies by the British Colonies would be viewed in the light of the Washington Conference. Assuming matters to remain as they are at present between Britain and the colonies, it would seem that increases in colonial naval strength would mean enlarging the forces at the disposal of the British Empire, thereby altering the ratio arrived at as a result of the Washington Conference. That would be regrettable as upsetting one of the first real steps towards the establishment of that permanent peace of which the world stands so much in need.

The Riots In India

WE often hear it said that the peoples of the East are endowed with that touch of spirituality which at once distinguishes them from the crass materialism of the West and that reason has a more potent appeal for them than brute force. We wish, for their own sake, that this were really so, but the course of events is belying this exaggerated claim and is proving up to the hilt that the East is no different from the West when it comes to the periodical assertion of the primal instinct of mankind—the instinct of fighting. While Chinese troops are engrossed near our doors in the business of wholesale murder, telegrams come from India announcing the outbreak of communal rioting in which firearms have been brought into play and in which even incendiarism has been resorted to. The majority of both the Moslems and the Hindus are using firearms indiscriminately, wounding a number of police and officials. Thus is human life accounted cheap when the savage instincts implanted in man begin to assert themselves.

No serious student of contemporary world politics will be surprised at the news of the Hindu-Mosiem fracas at Kohat. The Punjab, always the Ulster of India, is now a gunpowder magazine. Produce a spark, and a conflagration is sure to follow. Thanks to the revival of mediaeval fanaticisms engendered by the Khilafat agitation, and thanks to the revivalistic activities of the Hindu Maha Sabha, the two major communities of the Punjab are at daggers drawn. A light incident, not even remotely connected with anything communal, is enough to bring about trouble and necessitate the intervention of the police. A Mohamedan villager, it is said, had an altercation with a Hindu goldsmith over the payment of some money, and the latter is alleged to have struck the villager with a lathi. The incident drew both communities and a communal fight began. Six persons were seriously injured and many more slightly. In ordinary circumstances, the incident should have passed without any communal outburst, but the Punjab would not be the Punjab, if a disturbance did not occur on such flimsy pretext. Advices recently received from India state that Mrs. Sarojini Naidu proposes to tour the country with the evangel of Hindu-Moslem unity and the good wishes of millions go with her on her mission of goodwill. It is to be hoped she will not fail, as others greater than she have hitherto failed, in accomplishing the mission. If she does not succeed, she will at least learn that a long time must elapse before there can be heartfelt unity between the two communities. She will deserve the thanks of the public if, at the end of her tour, she speaks her mind as she spoke it on her arrival from South Africa. We may then expect her to say that the Congress leaders have been simply deceiving themselves and the public that Hindu-Moslem unity is an accomplished fact. The tour will, however, immediately result in increasing the personal popularity of Mrs. Naidu, and her prospects of being elected president of this year's Congress.

In the meantime, it must be the despair of the League of Nations that, at the very moment when it is striving to direct the footsteps of nations along the ways of peace, there should be grave civil commotion in two great countries embracing practically half the world's population—China and India.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

BY WM. F. KIRK

Pa, I sed to my dad last nite, what is Con-Tent?

A vary rair artickle, Bobbie, sed Pa. It means being satis-fyed with yure lot.

But what if you aint got no lot or no house or nothing, I sed, how can you be Con-Tent then and.

It isent that kind of Lot, Bobbie, sed Pa. I mean, wen I say yure Lot, yure stashun in life, sed Pa. I meen if you are a littel boy you shud be glad you are a littel boy, and if you are a big man like what I am, sed Pa, you shud be glad you are such, and not wish to be the Kink of Abby-sinny, Bobby, sed Pa. Do you follow me, Bobbie? sed Pa.

I guess so, I sed. Our teecher was saying that the first thing us kids shud lern is to be Con-Tented with our life as it is.

That is all rite wen you are littel shavers, Bobbie, sed Pa, but when you git to be 21 years old, Bobbie, sed Pa, you must not let yureself be satis-fyed with anything, sed Pa. You must always try to do better and nobler than you did the day beefoar, Bobbie, sed Pa. Thus do we grow toward the stars, Bobbie, Pa sed. Thus do we X-pand and git to be grate, like what I am, Bobbie, sed Pa.

Or I, Bobbie, sed Ma, I mite as well be in on this hot air party, sed Ma.

You are a great Ma all rite, Ma, I sed. And you are butiful also, too, I sed.

Bless yure littel hart, Bobbie, sed Ma. No wonder I have a fealing of Con-Tent wen I see my preshus littel son, sed Ma.

And yure noabler husband, sed Pa. Well may you be Con-Tented with yure husband, sed Pa.

Why aint everybody Con-Tented? I sed to my dad.

Well, Bobbie, sed Pa, it is trew that Nater has not done so much for sum peepul as she has for others, sed Pa. Sum peepul has in growing noases and hair lips and Cross eyes and bow legs, etc., sed Pa, and thare heds is offen quite solid all the way thru, Bobbie, sed Pa, like a bowling ball, sed Pa. Such peepul, Bobbie, sed Pa, have little to be Con-Tented with. But take myself, Bobbie, sed Pa, or yure butiful mother, Pa sed, eether of us shud be satis-fyed and Con-Tented, sed Pa, beekaus Nater has done much for us.

I was jest thinking, sed Ma, that maybe other peepul mite think we are a con-seeted fambly if thay cud heer you talk like what you have jest been talking, sed Ma.

Thare is not a hare of con-seet in my hed, sed Pa. Here is one member of our fambly that is Modist and almost Basherful, sed Pa. Why are you laffing? sed Pa.

I was jest thinking about yure Con-Tent, sed Ma, with the acksent on the first sillabull, sed Ma.

I suppoas Con-Tent is O. K. It is foolish to be all the time kicking and Beafing, we mite as well take what cums and never bat a eye, that is what heeros does in the books, so I will talk what cums and I hoap plenty cums.

Correspondence

A CHINESE FALLACY

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir—In an article published in one of Shanghai's morning papers (not The China Press) under the above heading, in reply to a letter headed "Chinese Patriots" published in the same issue, the editor tried to refute the writer's contention that present war in China is in many respects similar to the late catastrophal upheaval in Europe though only a flea bite comparatively in magnitude, by pointing out to him that

"The war began because one Power, or a group of men controlling that Power, resolved to appropriate other people's property and to dominate the world, regardless of truth and morality. That Power was for the time being a public brigand and malefactor, and when, after long years of preparation, its rulers proceeded to put their plans into execution at the moment which they thought most favorable for chances of success, the other Powers were compelled to fight in self-defence."

Quite so. All agreed and passed unanimously; with the only exception that the editor in writing the above very considerately refrained from mentioning names, everybody is left to form his own opinion as to which head the cap fits best.

Even the powers now at war in China will probably agree with the statement, since practically every one of them made strikingly similar declarations in their recently published manifestoes; so much so in fact that one or two of them, if they cared, might bring an action for infringement of copyright against you.

It has ever been thus, and always will be. When Adam, coming home late with a jag on, picked his first fight with Eve because there was nobody else with whom to put the gloves on, he probably claimed that he was acting purely in self-defense. In every street fight and every war ever since, both parties have always vociferously proclaimed that they were the attacked, that they had to fight in self-defense, and that the other party were a lot of—(allright, Mr. Editor, strike it out!)

Of the thirty or more powers engaged in the recent World War on both sides, every one of them either claimed that they were fighting in self-defense, or else in defense of some highly moral principle, which "sacred mission" (an expression frequently employed by yourself at those times) however, did not bother most of them much when it came to looting, as much as they could, of the other people's private property.

After a war that was to end all wars, the Powers that came out victorious are now keeping huge armies under arms at enormous expense; war ships, submarines and aeroplanes are being built regardless of cost; guns and ammunition are manufactured by thousands of laborers who would be better employed in digging the soil, building houses for the homeless and manufacturing articles with which to revivify trade; and scientists, instead of endeavoring to find new means and ways to lighten humanity's burden, are feverishly engaged trying to discover new and more deadly explosives and poison gases.

All in the—a thousand times damned—name of self-defense. Aggression? Speaking for themselves as if butter would not melt in their mouths, nobody thinks of it; it is always the other fellows that do. Every one of them is the only lamb among so many wolves.

Webster defines the expression "aggressor" as: "The person who first attacks or makes an aggression; he who begins hostility or a quarrel; an assailant." Which is all rot, or at least neither the popular conception of the term nor the diplomats' definition of it. Aggressor simply means "the other fellow," and that is all there is to it.

I am, etc.,
FR. REIBER.

Shanghai, Sept. 11, 1924.

Temperature And Life

BY GARATT P. SERVISS

The recent achievement of melting thorium oxide, at the Bureau of Standards, may serve to remind us of the very restricted conditions as to temperature amidst which we live. We and our contemporaries of this present world depend for our very existence upon a narrow range of temperature. But the elementary substances out of which this world and its inhabitants are made are not destroyed by variations of temperature, however great; they simply change their state in accord with the degree of heat (that is of molecular excitement) to which they are subjected.

There may, then, be other worlds, at other levels of temperature, inhabited, by living creaures suited to their environment and just as perfect in their way as we are in ours. And they may be composed of some or all of the same elements from which our bodies are formed, but in a different physical state. So logical a thinker as Sir John Herschel did not hesitate to suggest the possibility of living organism dwelling in the sun, where the temperature is sufficient to keep all known substances in the gaseous state.

In our world thorium oxide is a solid so refractory that it seemed impossible with any degree of heat that we can command to melt it and so turn it into the liquid state. However, in that house of scientific magic that the Bureau of Standards maintains in the outskirts of Washington they have succeeded in melting thorium oxide. It took a temperature so high that it can only be estimated.

It is thought to be almost twice as high as the melting temperature of platinum, which itself is 3,200 degrees Fahrenheit. Even this, however, would be well below the melting temperature of carbon, which has been estimated at no less than 7,232 degrees Fahrenheit! Carbon has been called the most characteristic element in the composition of living things. It is still carbon, even when melted or vaporized, but in this world its customary state is that of a solid. Most of the substances around us here are temporarily in the solid state. The principal exceptions are two: The air, a mixture of gases and water, a compound of gases in the liquid states. But we cannot say that in the broad sense, any substance as we find it is in its "natural" state. The state depends upon the circumstances, i. e. upon the temperature.

The case of water is very interesting. Water is our comrade. The limits within which it is able to maintain itself in the liquid state are not very far from those in which we are able to maintain our lives. Water freezes and turns into the hard and brittle solid, ice, at a temperature of 32 degrees Fahrenheit. We can resist temperatures lower than that but not permanently.

Water again loses its liquid state and passes into that of a vapor or gas at the temperature of 212 degrees Fahrenheit. This is considerably above any temperature at which we can live, even for a short time. In a world where water was permanently in the steam state we, constituted as we here are, could not survive. In a world where water was permanently in the ice state we could not long survive either.

We seem to be perched on a narrow ledge with an abyss of death on either hand. We are born like snowflakes by the grace of a special temperature prevailing among our surroundings, and like snowflakes we vanish when a too ardent beam strikes us, or shrivel at the skeletonising touch of thermal zero.

It is curious to see how changes in the mean temperature of the earth would alter the relative proportions of solids and liquids on its surface. If the temperature exceeded 449 degrees Fahrenheit, tin would become a liquid instead of a solid metal. Above 674 degrees mercury would boil and begin to turn into vapor. On the other hand, if the temperature dropped below minus 37.8 degrees, mercury would become, like water at plus 32 degrees, a solid.

Above 206 degrees sodium would be liquid, and above 246 degrees sulphur would folow suit. Lead would not remain solid above 621 degrees, nor zinc above 758. But it would require a temperature of 1,942 degrees to make gold run in liquid streams from the quartz ledges, and one above 2,742 degrees to turn iron into a permanent liquid. But oxygen becomes solid below minus 391 degrees, hydrogen below 434, and helium below 454.

The years 1924 & 1925 will be China's Greatest Advertising Year.

Every Great City has a Directory that has prestige and influence and that is representative of its community.

Chinese Traders' Diary
(1925 issue)

is now being compiled to produce as far as possible 90% of all the businesses and managements of Chinese Shopkeepers and all Foreign Concerns, and which will be widely distributed to all interested in commerce in Shanghai. It should be considered as a good advertising medium. No advertisers can hope to cover Shanghai unless this Diary is included in their advertising lists.

DRESS

By Mary Marshall

The Presto-chango Sport Costume Has Skirt That May Be Worn Like Knickers.

If in the years gone by milk maids had gone a milking, shepherdesses had gone after their sheep, and maids had gone a maying as maids do these things today, there would have been few poets to sing their praises or artists to rcord their charms on canvas. What if Little Bo Peep had worn tweed knickerbockers, and a khaki shirt? What if the country maids that Greuze painted had been girl scouts and had worn the uniform of that organisation instead of the bouffant skirt the tight drawn girdle, the closely draped bodice and the flowered straw hat?

The other day a group of thirty girlh and boys, members of the same small town high school graduating class, went on a picnic. The picnic ground was the sandy beach along a little frequented New England shore and the picnickers reached their destination via two motor trucks provided with straw and cushions.

There were pretty girls among them, of course, but they all wore knickrbockers and with one or two exceptions the girls were bobbed. Doubtless the youth of today enjoys going picnicking with sensible girls in tweed or khaki knickers but the costume is certainly far less conducive to whispered flirtations and love making than the light summer frocks that girls of a generation or so ago wore on picnics.

Of course the knickerbocker costume is not regarded as the least bit shocking any more. Even in remote regions in this country it is so usual as to be almost commonplace. Like the bob it seems to have rushed in where other fashions have feared to tread. Perhaps just because of the widespread wearing of the knicker sport costume the smarter element among women rather avoid apparing in knickers save when they have some really good excuse for it. No one plays golf in knickers. It is quite possible to wear skirts and still have freedom enough for the game. There are seemingly straight and scant golf skirts with wide inverted pleats at the side or front that give ample room.

The sketch shows a new version of the knickerbocker sport costume which is made in cloth or linen. There is a one-piece frock worn over a white sport skirt. By unbuttoning the slit back and front the skirt can be fastened around the legs to make knickers. A mannish coat completes the costume.

The Presto-chango costume of cloth or linen. With the manipulation of buttons the skirt can be quickly changed to knickers.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

THEATRICALS

Every once in a while the private theatrical is revived. And apparently the present time has been chosen as a time of revival for this form of entertainment in many places. It is said that in London the reason for the interest now felt in such shows is ecause many persons have honestly wearied of dancing—that is dancing in the usual way. The girl with real ambitions to dance wants to do a dancing act in some amateur show, and so long as there are people willing to watch this solo dancing she will be able to further charitable interests by having her way.

WITH ORANGE

Orange-jelly Salad

One tablespoon gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, ½ cup boiling water, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup orange juice, juice of 1 lemon, 1 grapefruit. Soak the gelatin in the cold water. Add the boiling water and sugar, and stir until dissolved. Add orange and lemon juice. Cool, and when beginning to set pour into individual molds. Arrange sections of grapefruit in each mold. Serve on lettuce with any desired dressing.

Orange Sance for Gingerbread

Mix togther one cup of sugar and one-tourth a cup of cornstarch. Add one cup of boiling water and cook until smooth. Flavor with the juice of an orange and just before taking from the stove add two tablespoonfuls of butter and the same of fine-ground orange peel.

Orange Filling

One-half cup sugar, two and one-half tablespoons flour, grated rind one-half orange, one-quarter cup orange juice, one-half tablespoon lemon juice, 1 egg slightly beaten, 1 tablespoon butter.

Mix sugar and flour, add grated lemon rind, orange juice and egg slightly beaten. Put butter in saucepan and when melted add mixture, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Cool before spreading.

1,600 ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL IN SIANFU; SHENSI

Strong Faculty Give Six-Week Course In Ancient City

(China Press Correspondence)

Sianfu, August 31.—The Northwestern University has just closed the first session of the summer extension school. Teachers of every kind of school from all over the province of Shensi came together for a six weeks course of lectures, including lectures in Modern European History, Political Science, Philosophy and all such orthodox summer school subjects, and even branching out into Anthropology and Forestry,—subjects that would open a new world to the average student attending the course.

A critical eye would observe that the attendance fell off before the withering rays of the Sianfu sun, but a kindly eye would see only that day after day, with the thermometer going well over 100 degrees every day, students came of their own free will and drank deeply from these new springs of knowledge. With no compulsory attendance, with no diplomas or rewards for completing the courses, with nothing as an incentive except the desire for knowledge it is little short of wonderful that results were achieved that were achieved. It speaks well for the mind that conceived the idea and dared attempt it, and well for the men who, through the heat of Sianfu, lectured with unabated zeal to these anxious students.

The faculy was strong. It included: Chen Ting-moi of Nankai University, formerly of University of Chicago, Wang Tung-ling of the Peking Normal University, from the Imperial University of Tokio, Liu Ven-hai of Southeastern University from the University of Wisconsin, T. F. Tsiang of Nankai University from Oberlin and Columbia, Lee Shun-ching of the Peking Normal University, from Chicago, L. K. Wang, of Peking University, L. T. Wang of Northwestern University from University of Paris, R. Z. Shu of the Agricultural University of Peking from Germany. S. L. Chung, T. F. Chen, and Sun Fu-yuan of Peking University and Li Chi of Nankai University, from Harvard University.

Besides lecturing to the 600 students who registered for the Norhwestern University Summer Extension Course these men lectured at the Military Governor's Yamen at the Military Cadets School, and at the School for Civil Administration, the three places totalling some 1,000 students. If only one tenth of these 1,600 students get a new idea in their heads,—and new ideas were given out daily in these courses,—it should mean much towards the dawn of a new day in interior Shensi.

HANGCHOW NOW RELAXING FROM STRAIN OF WAR

Rents Levy Imposed In Order To Finance Merchants Volunteer Corps

(China Press Correspondence)

Hangchow, Sept. 10.—Hangchow is relaxing somewhat from the strain and suspense of the past several days. The merchants are quietly proceeding with the organisation of their volunteer corps, one or more in each section of the city. They are financing their efforts by levying an assessment of ten percent of the rental value of each house in the district. In most cases this is divided equally between landlord and tenant.

The primary schools are under way as usual. The Hangchow College enrollment promises to be more than fair. Examinations are proceeding now and there is no indication that many of the students will be kept away by the war scare. There was a report that the Six Harmonies Pagoda near the college had been forced to expell its priests and make ready for the quartering of troops. This was nothing more than a rumor, for no troops are there. The only war activity in mind there is the plan of the College to organise a unit of the Red Cross if there is need for their services.

The Union Girls' School, and Wayland Academy, the other Christian Schools, are displaying activities which show no signs of effect from the uncertainties of the situation. Both have opened as usual, and their action is having a steadying effect in the city also. Most of the privately endowed schools have opened also. though the government schools have not yet announced the date of their delayed opening.

The various churches, the Red Cross, and the Chekiang Famine Relief Committee have worked out their plans of relief in detail and ready for any contingency that may arise. Foodstuffs are now beginning to rise in price, due more to the influence of prices in Shanghai than to any shortage of supply.

A diversion to the war talk and thought came last night when a large fire broke out not far from the railway station, and near Wayland Academy. Approximately a hundred houses burned along the Dzeh Bai Le. The flames started in a general goods shop when a clerk attempted fill a lighted lamp with kerosene. The blaze spread so quickly that two men jumped from a window. One was killed in the jump, while the other escaped with the loss of a couple of teeth. For the past two years fires every few weeks has been the regular order, and yet there is no talk of modern fire fighting aparatus the use of which the wide streets would permit in many parts of the city.

KIANGSU TROOPS JOIN CHEKIANG, HUCHOW REPORTS

Severe Casualties Resulting From Fighting Along Taihu Lake

(China Press Correspondence)

Huchow, Chekiang, Sept. 9.—Word has just arrived that a body of Kiangsu troops 700 strong deserted their army yesterday and joined the Chekiang forces stationed about thirty five li north of Changsing. In the afternoon another 500 are reported to have also left their ranks and joined the Chekiang army. No details of the cause of this change of attitude and commands could be learned except that the troops preferred to be on the winning side.

Actual fighting in that sector began on Sept. 7, at noon. Although the casualties have been a considerable number both of dead and wounded. Last night fifty wounded had reached the military hospital at Changsing, with new arrivals constantly. General Chen Yao-shan has moved his headquarters from Huchow to Changsing, where he is in charge of activities in that sector. His headquarters are established at Wu Li-chiao, the terminus of the Changsing Coal Mining Company's railroad. At Kispu, a small but important point near the border of Kiangsu Province and on the Great Lake, General Yang Hwa-chao one of the noted generals from Fukien is in charge. The fighting up to last night showed little change after the gains of the Chekiang forces on the previous day when they drove the Kiangsu forces back some fifteen or twenty li. The opposing forces being now located about 35 li north of Changsing.

The Changsing Red Cross has been sending urgent appeals to the Huchow Chapter for help both in the rescue work and in that of burying the dead. Huchow has training workers for both kinds of activities, and plans to send her detachment of Red Cross workers numbering about sixty, to Changsing tomorrow or Thursday at the latest.

Later.—Late this evening when the young men in training for rescue service with the Red Cross at the front were told that they are to go tomorrow for service, they refused to a man to go, unless their salaries were increased 10 percent. Inasmuch as they have been training only eight or nine days they were told that they would received an allowance of $8.00 per month to which they agreed. Now that the time of danger and service has arrived, their true patriotism is revealing itself. At a late hour the Red Cross officials could see little hope of persuading them to stand by their agreements.

SUN YIELDS TO OPPOSITION OF MERCHANTS CLASS

Lack Of Funds Halts Scheem For Expedition To North

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, Sept. 10.—With the Kiangsu-Chekiang issue arisen, Dr. Sun Yat-sen was offerred a golden opportunity for carrying out his long cherished scheme to dispatch expeditionary forces against tho North but is still unable to do so owing to the question of military funds requisite for the expedition as well as to lack of unity in the South.

To make matters worse, the feeling of merchants generally towards the Canton Government has of late remarkably changed for the worse. In fact, they are disgusted with the attitude of Dr. Sun who is advocating the irrelevant revolutionary movement.

The state of affairs in general is thus proving to be unfavorable to Dr. Sun and in these circumstances, he has considerably altered his firm attitude towards the merchants, beginning to show a conciliatory tendency. It is reported in reliable quarters that Dr. Sun has a mind to issue a communique in the name of the Generalissimo to the following effect:

(1) The scheme for the despatch of expeditionary forces shall be put into effect as soon as possible. Dr. Sun in person standing at the head of the expeditionary forces.

(2) The administration of Canton City shall be conducted through the autonomy of the citizens, the Municipality of Canton to be opened to the public, and the Mayor to be elected by the citizens.

(3) Taxes of all descriptions shall be abolished and new tax regulations be formulated by those officials who are to be elected by the citizens.
